REMEMBER, "NOBODY BEATS MAYSLACK'S MEAT" Thank you for your business!

The establishment you're in right now has been standing for around 130 years. But you're here because of what started in 1955, when the former pro-wrestler, Stan Myslajek (the original, Polish spelling of Mayslack) started making massive, garlic-enhanced, roast beef sandwiches. People would line up around the block, paper plates in hand, waiting to savor one of his towering sandwiches. The booming, broad-shouldered Stan would demand that you use "TWO HANDS!" when he piled the beef on your plate. The juke box only played polka and Stan's wife used a cigar box as the till. Stan passed away in 1994 and not too much has changed. While the juke box boasts a wider variety of music and we have computerized tills, our cooks still make the beef true to Stan's style, and the wait staff uses two hands when delivering the piping hot sandwiches to your table. We've also upgraded from paper to solid plates, but we'll still shout "TWO HANDS!" at you, if you ask. In the fall of 2006 Dean Jacklitch bought Mayslack's. He has been in the bar industry since he was ten years old, and vowed to keep Mayslack's true to tradition by dedicating his staff to a higher standard and the output of quality products. Along with great drinks and daily food specials, local bands play Friday and Saturday. So whether you're here to relive old memories, or to start new ones, we're committed to making your experience as epic as Stan, himself. It really is true; Nobody Beats Our Meat.
